BATTLE WITH OUTLAWS .- A gang of thieves appeared on Friday night in the littl: town of Baldwin, James county, Ia., where they robbed two stores and the posteffice. They then went to the neighboring village of Wyoming, robbing three farm-houses on the way. Officers from Baldwin pursued and found the burglars enting breakfast in a hotel at Wyoming. When ordered to surrender they drew revolvers and a running fight ensued, during which an officer was seriously wounded. The pursued men rushed through the crowd and made their way to a large body of timber which was surrounded by enraged citizens. The desperadoes left their overcoats and most of their booty in the words and broke through the guard, going in the direction of Dabaque.

About 8 o'clock that evening Jacob Handenshell, returning from a trip in-to the country, stopped at a rural cato the country, stopped at a rural fa-loon, where three men asked him to take them to Dubuque. Two climbed into the back of the wayon and the third got upon the driver's seat. After riding half a mile the men in the wayon shot Handenshell in the back, put a revolver to his face and ordered him to give up his money. The bandits secured $100 and fled. Handenshell, who was severely wounded, hurried to Dubuque and gave the slarm. Sheriff Phillips and a posse went out immediately, but retuined at n idmitht without finding any trace of the men. At 3 o'clock the Sheriff and two men went cut again, and at 4 o'clock the Sheriff, who went cut again, and at 4 o'clock the Sheriff, who was then alone, saw three men emerge from a barn. He followed them until the other officers barn. He followed them until the other officers came in sight, when, with a drawn revolver, he crept up and ordered the trio to surrende. They threw up their hands and were taken to shounge. The prisoners gave the names of Albert Williams, George Willard and William Watkins. Over 100 friends of the wounded man visited the jail Sunday, and threats of lynching are made.
